Hearing: Discussion Questions

- Read 2nd Corinthians 5:17-20. We are called to more than our occupation. What would have happened if Luke did not respond to the call to write his account to Theophilus (even though that was “not his job?” In the same way, what will happen if we don’t step out and be obedient to what God is calling us to do in His name?
  - Give some testimonies of when you stepped out and were obedient to God’s promptings. What happened? What do you think would have happened if you didn’t step out?
- “Jesus isn’t looking for people to do things for Him, but to do things with Him.” What difference does it make if we are doing things for God or doing things with Him? Is there a difference at all? Explain.
- Read Ephesians 2:8-10. Pastor Mike said that “grace isn’t opposed to effort, but earning.” Discuss the relationship between verse 8-9 and verse 10 and the place of “good works” in a believer’s life.
- Read Psalm 42:5. What do you think of the Psalmist speaking to his own soul? How would this help his situation? In what situations in your life would “speaking to your soul” be beneficial? Discuss.
- God sometimes speaks first and explains later. Have there ever been times in your life where God has spoken and revealed what it meant or how something would play out later? Share with the group.

Doing: Application

- Read Genesis 1:1-3. “All God needs is a word.” When Jesus speaks it, then you can do it. What aspects of your life do you need God to speak to? Take some time in your small group to share (you might need to break into smaller groups) some struggles and places where you need to hear a word from God. If possible, find in Scripture where God has given a promise to meet your specific needs. (This is prayer for you)
- There is power in our words... there is supernatural power when that word comes from the Lord! What mountains does God want to speak to through you? This could be speaking to a person or situation. Pray for God to reveal how He can use you this week in speaking truth and life to the mountains around you. (This is prayer through you)
